DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION DEADLOCK LOOMS!

GREAT WHITE WAY TO BE DARKENED

Street Lights, Signs, Store Windows Dark to Save Electrical Power

Glendale will go on "moonlight schedule" tonight, all street lights being dark in line with the electrical conservation policy of the Southern California Edison company made necessary by insufficient rainfall during the past winter. This includes display and window lighting in the business section.

The announcement comes from Peter Diederich, superintendent of the city light and water department, who is in receipt of a letter from S. M. Kennedy, vice-president of the Edison company, stating that a 25 per cent curtailment is necessary at once, in order to conserve sufficient hydro-electric power to operate essential industries until the next rainy season.

The plan of the company, Mr. Diederich points out, is to handicap least the manufacturers and producers whose operations furnish payrolls and supply edibles. No applications for new business are to be approved under the curtailment schedule, unless they come from farmers.

The following suggestions are offered by Vice-President Kennedy of the Edison company:

1. Use other power if possible.
2. Eliminate all decorative display.
3. Reduce street lighting.
4. Lessen domestic consumption.
5. Curtail industrial consumption 25 per cent.
6. Reduce the irregular load.
7. Cut street railway schedules 25 per cent.
8. Curtail the operations of dredgers and rock-crushers.
9. Cut twenty-four hour consumers between 6 and 10 o'clock nightly.

FASCIST PREMIER OFFERS TO QUIT

Mussolini's Men Pour Into Rome as Crisis In Cabinet Looms

ROME, June 17.—Following a lengthy conference between Premier Mussolini and King Victor Emmanuel at the Quirinal today, it was rumored that Mussolini had offered his resignation as a result of the political scandal over the kidnaping and slaying of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti.

Five thousand black-shirted fascist militiamen, fully armed, poured into Rome today from the provinces to keep order and to protect the fascist organization. Their arrival resulted from the general excitement and unrest over the kidnaping and slaying of Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti one week ago today.

Changes Expected

Political enemies of fascism attributed the crime to members of the Fascisti. The Fascisti marched through the streets singing patriotic songs.

All the members of the ministry offered their resignations to Premier Mussolini. Important government developments are expected within twenty-four hours.

Appointment of Tax Appeals Board Looms

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Prompt appointment of the powerful board of tax appeals and review, created under the new revenue act, was indicated at the White House today following a conference between President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

The membership of the board will be about evenly divided between officials and carefully selected men representing the various sections of the country. The board will conduct its proceedings publicly, on a court basis, hearing and reviewing all evidence.

DRY FORCES MOVING ON GOTHAM

Prohibition Sleuths to Mop Up New York Before Democrats Arrive

By ROBERT T. SMALL,
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright 1924.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 17.—Having kept Cleveland pretty dry during the Republican national convention, the heavy squad of prohibition enforcement officers, sent here for special duty, has moved to New York to mop up the metropolis prior to the coming of the Democratic hosts. Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes was here himself and brought the pick of his field staff with him. The chances are that he will also be in New York during the pow-wow at Madison Square Garden. He hopes, however, that by the time he arrives the advance guards working in conjunction with the regular shift at New York will have made such a dent in the wet spots of Broadway that little will be left to be done.

The successful fight here in Cleveland was all against organized bootlegging or the attempted sale of booze in cafes or other public places. No attempt was made to "frisk" the delegates and visitors for possible pocket flasks and so far as can be learned there will be no such tactics employed in New York. It was considered inevitable here that there would be some bottle "toting" and room drinking and the authorities felt themselves powerless to cope with such a situation.

Watching New York

There was virtually no drunkenness at all on the streets of the convention city. The prohibition authorities are determined to keep New York similarly clean if possible.

During all of convention week out here eyes were turned toward New York and in the lobbies of the hotels there was really more speculation as what the Democrats were going to do than there was discussion of the Republican

Pastor's Trial for Shooting Nears End

Burns, Baptist minister, on trial in the Audrain county circuit court on a charge of assault with intent to kill as the result of the shooting here, March 1, of Howard D. Conger, Lincoln, Neb., traveling salesman, whom Burns accused of paying undue attention to Mrs. Burns, a pretty brunette.

LA FOLLETTE CANDIDACY FAVORED

Extreme Radicals Willing To Accept Program of Third Party Heads

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 17.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin will be given another opportunity to run for the presidency on the Farmer-Labor-Progressive ticket. His repudiation of the Communists who are assembled here for conference has led to bitter feeling, but the extreme radicals in the Farmer-Labor movement are willing to abide by the strategy of their more conservative comrades and present the platform of this convention to the Wisconsin senator for his endorsement. If he accepts he must agree to run on the platform adopted here.

The platform will not be Communistic, according to C. E. Ruthenberg, secretary of the Workers' Party of America, and an avowed Communist. He recognizes that his group is in the minority here and simply says that if La Follette is to receive the nomination of the delegates here he must agree to take the platform.

Hope For Third Party

"We are not interested in individuals," said Mr. Ruthenberg, "but in principles and parties. Out of this conference we hope will grow a third party. If Senator La Follette doesn't accept we shall probably nominate Duncan MacDonald of Illinois, former head of the United Mine Workers of that state, and William Bouck of the state of Washington for president and vice president, respectively.

"We expect to put a ticket in the field in at least forty states in the coming election. We have already been organized and have considerable strength in Minneso-

Two Murdered Locked In Each Other's Arms

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Locked in each others' arms, the bodies of two unidentified men were found at Gardena, near here today, huddled on the floor of an automobile. Both had been murdered. Investigating officers reported the men had been shot to death. F. W. Sutter of Gardena found the bodies after glancing into an automobile parked in a lonely, tree-shaded road.

One of the murdered men was later identified as F. E. Reynolds of Los Angeles. Mrs. Reynolds said her husband left home yesterday to testify in a case in superior court. A revenge plot as a result of Reynolds' appearance in the court case was advanced by officers as a possible motive for the slaying.

Total Production of Crude Oil Reported

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The total production of crude oil for California for May, 1924, was 19,833,576 barrels. The total stocks at the end of the month were 99,511,937 barels and the increase in stocks 2,176,286 barrels, the American Petroleum Institute announced today. One hundred and fifty wells were completed with an initial daily production of 56,451 barrels.

Flowers Rain From Skies on Caskets Of Blast Victims

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Just as a band played a funeral dirge here today at the memorial services for the forty-eight victims of the U. S. S. Mississippi, a giant airplane winged its way in the sky.

Pausing over an altar where the forty-eight caskets rested, the plane dropped down thousands of soft petaled roses, which covered the coffins like an immense shroud.

Nine women and one man, overcome at the sight, fainted. They were attended by naval physicians from the U. S. S. Pennsylvania.

American, Belgian Balloons Still Up In Trophy Contest

BRUSSELS, June 17.—Only two balloons of the 17 that started in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup were unaccounted for at 6 o'clock this afternoon. They were the Goodyear, piloted by W. G. Van Orman, and the Belgica, Belgium, piloted by Lieutenant Ernest De Muyter. They are believed to have traveled out over the North sea. The Swiss balloon piloted by Armbruster, landed at St. Martin, France.

GUNMEN ARE ACTIVE IN NEW YORK

Bill Brennan's Death Laid To Underworld Enemies In Mystery Feud

NEW YORK, June 17.—It used to be said here in New York that for $50 you could hire an assassin to kill any person you might designate. Whether or not the rates have gone up with the general high cost of living or dying, is not known, but, in any event, the activity of the gunmen would seem to indicate that business is good.

The latest victim of the professional killers, Bill Brennan, the pugilist cafe owner, was believed to be one of the most harmless men, outside a prize ring, that the underworld of Manhattan had ever known. Sometimes he was called the man without an enemy. But, somewhere in the shadows that shroud with mystery the night life of a big city, there was some one with a grudge against the retired fighter, and in the early hours of yesterday that grudge was quitted with the bullets of the men who slay for pay.

Recalls Ketchell's End.

The slayin of Bill Brennan by men he had never seen before recalls the death, some years ago, of another renowned pugilist, Stanley Ketchell. But in that instance the man who thought he had a grievance against the fighter stepped boldly out himself and fired the shots which killed. He explained that he thought Ketchell was paying too much attention to his wife.

The slaying of Bill Brennan by death, just a few weeks ago, of Barron Wilkins, the notorious negro owner of a couple of Manhattan cabarets, a man whose places of entertainment were patronized more by white persons than by the people of his own race. Wilkins was standing in front of his "club" when a yellow negro rushed up to him and de-

IMPRESSIVE TRIBUTE TO 48 DEAD

Many Thousands Take Part In Solemn Ceremonies For Blast Victims

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Upon the uncharted seas from whence there is no homeward cruise departed from here today the forty-eight bluejackets who met death in the U. S. S. Mississippi explosion.

While a nation bowed its head in grief, 20,000 sailors and civilians participated in the spectacular and solemn ceremony giving godspeed to the dead.

In the center of a great living replica of the Everlasting Cross, all in navy blue, rested the forty-eight gunners in caskets draped with American flags and half hidden in California's sweetest blossoms. An altar, overlooking a waveless sea, blue as navy blue, held the coffins.

Impressive Tribute

Forming the inside wings of the cross stood 1,200 sailors and marines in full field equipment, picked men from the U. S. S. Mississippi, New Mexico, Idaho and Tennessee.

Behind, stalwart and strong, was an honor guard of 3,000 men from the Pacific fleet—another sea of blue.

In command stood twelve officers in full uniform with crepe fluttering from their swords.

Behind the altar and a huge bank of massive floral tributes, including one from the British navy, there was a small group of men, women and girls—relatives and sweethearts of the dead.

Just beyond the altar in a splash of bright silver made by their instruments a massed band

NEW SENSATIONS IN FRAUD TRIAL

Right to Homestead Claim Of Mrs. Donwell to Be Opposed In Court

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—In the testimony of Attorney Bert Woodard of Glendale that he acknowledged the homestead claim of Mrs. David Donwell to property in the city of Glendale after David Pashkow, alias Donwell, left this city and his Little Premium market, a new and interesting angle was placed on the charges that Nettie Bowen, who was known here as Mrs. Donwell, and Pashkow conspired to defraud creditors.

It is expected that Donwell's attorneys will claim she had no right to homestead the residence inasmuch as she is alleged not to be the legal wife of Pashkow. And had that been a part of the assets, they will point out, a more satisfactory settlement of the creditors' claims could have been made.

Woodard, as attorney for Mrs. Donwell at the time of David's disappearance, was not allowed to testify further than his act as a notary public in acknowledging her signature. L. R. Black of the Glendale State bank testified as to the institution's financial dealings with Donwell, as he was known; also Mrs. Donwell, who is on trial as Nettie Bowen.

Assistant United States District Attorney Russell Graham is proceeding slowly with the prosecution because of the confusion existing in the names of the defendants. As Glendale people knew them, Pashkow was David Donwell and Nettie Bowen was Mrs. David Donwell, although it is asserted she was not his wife.

Coolidge to Retain Butler as Director

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Coolidge made it plain to callers at the White House today that the ill-feeling among Republican leaders as an aftermath of the Cleveland convention had caused no change in his plans to have his presidential campaign managed by William M. Butler of Massachusetts, whom he selected as chairman of the Republican National committee.

Roberts & Echols To Remodel Old Home Of Security Bank

Within forty-eight hours after the removal of the Security Trust & Savings bank from its former location at the southeast corner of Brand and Broadway to its new home, work was begun on the remodeling of the building for a modern drug store to be occupied by Roberts & Echols, owners of the building. Improvements, including fixtures and labor for the lower floor alone, will approximate $35,000, according to the schedule of costs as compiled by the contractors.

Both entrances to the upper floors of the building will be remodeled while the halls will be redecorated and a white enamel tile wainscoting installed.

Change of Name

In the future this building known in the past as the Security Trust & Savings bank building, will be known as the Roberts & Echols building. The change in name becomes effecive immediately, according to Frank Echols.

When completed, and present contracts call for all work to be finished by August 15, the new Roberts & Echols Drug store will be one of the finest and most modern drug stores to be found anywhere in Southern California, it is declared.

A mezzanine floor extending practically around the entire store room is to be built which will provide space for regular stock. The outside walls of the mezzanine, visible on the lower floor, will be glass enclosed and used for display purposes.

Various Departments

On the lower floor at the right of the main entrance will be the cigar department. Special display cases made entirely of glass with steel supports and marble bases have been purchased for this department as well as every other department in the store.

Injunction Suits to Enforce Liquor Laws

WASHINGTON, June 17.—"Padlock" injunction suits in state as well as federal courts to enforce the liquor laws will be employed through efforts of the federal prohibition unit, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes said today.

LONG BATTLE BY M'ADOO AND SMITH LEADERS

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Democratic national convention that meets in Madison Square Garden one week from today, will be a battle of the second choices, if the talk among the leaders now here can be accepted.

While public opinion of candidates and their chances naturally revolves about McAdoo-Smith-Underwood, it is of second choices that the leaders speak.

The reason therefor is that comparatively few of the leaders believe that either McAdoo, Smith or Underwood can be nominated.

They envisage a long battle between McAdoo and Smith. They see a deadlock at the garden comparable to the Clark-Wilson deadlock at Baltimore, the Cox-McAdoo deadlock at San Francisco and in the end they see a dark horse coming a-loping from some middle western box stall and get the oats, just as Harding did at Chicago four years ago.

Second Choice to Win

It might be pointed out that in other famous Democratic deadlocks one of the leaders has come through—Wilson at Baltimore for instance, or Cox at San Francisco. But it is also pointed out that issues and conditions which govern this contest which were completely lacking in other conventions—religion and Ku Klux Klanism, wet and dry, the League of Nations and a score of lesser issues.

This belief in the destiny of a second choice constitutes the sole stock in hope of the Ralston managers, the John W. Davis boosters, the Glass people, the Cummings crowd and the Copeland forces.

The McAdoo managers, led by Judge David Ladd Rockwell, and the Smith managers, whose spokesman is Franklin D. Roosevelt, are apprehensively cognizant of this situation.

MERCHANTS JOIN IN ASSOCIATION

Twenty-four Members Start Organization to Help Business Men

EAGLE ROCK, June 17.—The Eagle Rock Merchants' association has been launched with twenty-four members. Page Noll is chairman, and A. Roberts secretary. The first act of the association was to order the chairman to appoint a committee of five, one member from each district, to gather the necessary data and information which would be required to effect a permanent organization.

The first function of this committee will be to look into the best medium for advertising. The merchants plan to band themselves together in a unified system of bringing their announcements before the public.

Another important department of the association will be a credit department. This department, which has meant the saving of great sums of money to merchants in other cities, will constitute a vital factor in Eagle Rock business life, as it will eliminate a large number of "bad bills."

The following were appointed to serve on the organization committee; N. J. Clancy, Market; Ben H. Manlove, Hardware; Walter F. Meyer, Pharmacy; C. L. Suits, Hardware and Furniture; C. D. Brainard, Stationery and Gift Shop.

Plan Bus Service

Following the suggestion of O. F. Kroehle, the local Realty Board is looking into the possibility of securing bus service on Yosemite drive. Mr. Kroehle's plan was detailed by him at the last meeting of the Realty Board. He suggested that the bus start from the termination of the Los Angeles Railway line at Colorado and Townsend, going south on Townsend boulevard to Yosemite drive and then east to meet the Los Angeles Railway car on its way out from the city. Passengers could then be taken on from the car coming to Eagle Rock, delivered to their homes, or the bus passengers could transfer to the car going in to Los Angeles from either end of the line.

Miss Ruth Thompson, pianiste and composer, of Eagle Rock boulevard recently learned that her piano forte solo, "Romance," was used throughout the musical arrangement for the play of the same name, in which the noted actress, Doris Keane, appeared for several weeks as the opening attraction at the beautiful new playhouse theatre in Los Angeles.

A report by M. F. Gilmer of the fire protection district advisory committee, stated that no fire engine has as yet been agreed upon by the advisory board. A man will be sent from the forestry department to supervise the burning of brush on vacant lots, Mr. Gilmer said.

That's All

The Day We Honor
Lesson For Rulers
In Pleasant Places
Tell 'Em About It

By Gil A. Cowan

Students, your attention. This is Bunker Hill day. Does that mean anything to you? If it does, just review the incidents leading up to Bunker Hill. It will do your memory good. Also, it will cause you to reflect on the Revolution which gave this world the United States of America.

Bunker Hill's "down east" is symbolic to the American revolution. And busy Boston pays just tribute to this day by closing its stock markets and banks and stores, and thereby allowing people to more righteously recollect their patriotic forebears who went out and did battle with the British redcoats.

You know Great Britain would like to have America forget that war. If it were possible, the battle of Bunker Hill would be eliminated from all Anglicized history.

And yet we cannot blame the British for its treatment of the colonies, perhaps, in view of more recent actions on the part of other nations. It is only human nature to keep what you have, and get all out of it possible.

But it is a physical law that you cannot eat your cake and have it, too.

That is one of the lessons for governments and people to learn.

Glendale people who come from back east will be interested to know that the "home folks" are enjoying electrical storms, tornadoes, floods and such other pleasantries as Ma Nature does kick up in the middle west and south.

Gosh, but it's a grand and glorious feeling not to have a thunderstorm awaken you in the dead of night and see two or three farmers' barns burning up where lightning struck, and have it rain until the roads are all muddied up.

And isn't it more pleasant to see the dark clouds roll by over the mountains and desert than to tarry here in a whirlpool or maelstrom, or whatever you may call it, and blast houses and trees and other more or less permanent fixtures of the earth with its infernal funnel of mad wind?

But what's the use of reminding you of all of these things?

Let's forget 'em and live happily here in sunny southern California.

And don't forget to write your friends about the cool evenings, the sunny days, the pleasant parks, the soothing sands of the seashore and the balmy air of the mountains.

Have them make this their vacation land.

Write them a line tonight.

Invite them to Glendale.

CLUB REHEARSES FOR BIG CONCERT

Soloists Attend Preliminary Practice for Open Air Event June 27th

In anticipation of the big open air concert, June 27, at the Harvard High school, the Choral club enjoyed a most spirited rehearsal last night under the direction of J. Arthur Myers.

During the intermission Dr. John Anderson, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell.

An invitation to join in a big picnic gathering, June 28, at Santa Monica, was accepted. At this picnic plans will be made for a great contest of all kinds of musical organizations.

The Choral club will rehearse again tonight with the orchestra.

Glendale Students to Graduate From U.S.C.

CELEBRATION ON JULY 4 PLANNED

Goodfellows' Club Sponsors Patriotic Program on Independence Day

BURBANK, June 17.—Plans for celebrating July 4 are under way by the Goodfellows' club, whose president, Charles B. Wood, declares that, aside from patriotism, the object of those fostering the celebration is to keep the money of the citizens at home and to put on such attractions as will induce visitors from the outside to come here and celebrate the most important and best-loved of all American holidays.

So far no definite program has been made out, but a few features of importance have been decided upon. The celebration will be held in part at Benmar Hills, where Mayor J. C. Crawford will make a speech during the morning program, and where there will be dancing at night. The city band will be on duty all day long. There will be a sports program, concessions of various sorts will add their special attractions to the day, and present plans have in view a number of contests with prizes. Fireworks at night will be set off from Benmar Hills.

Judge A. A. Crawford of the city police court was much elated this morning over the news of the nomination of General Charles Dawes as running mate for Coolidge in the coming presidential campaign. Judge Crawford's keen interest is based on early association with the Dawes family who hail from the Judge's home town, Marietta, Ohio.

Judge Crawford, after years of acquaintance and friendship with General Dawes, has only praise for him, both as a man and a financier.

Mrs. C. Newell of Orange Grove avenue and daughter Ramona have returned from Oakland, where Mrs. Newell was called on account of the illness of her mother.

Doctors, Dentists Are Warned of Dope Rule

Five thousand physicians, dentists and veterinary surgeons were warned today by Collector Rex B. Goodcell that, unless they register and pay special tax by July 1, they lay themselves liable to a specific penalty of $1000 and prosecution under the Harrison Narcotic act, if they prescribe narcotics after that date.

Fifteen hundred physicians have already registered, and an extra clerical force has been provided by Collector Goodcell to enable the revenue office to register the five thousand who so far have failed to secure their papers and pay the special tax.

Delinquents were warned that any physician who fails to register before July 1 and who prescribes narcotics after that day, will be liable to prosecution under the Harrison Narcotic act. Instructions for a rigid enforcement of the narcotic measure have been received by Collector Goodcell.

Student Home After Course at University

The return trip west was made by way of the water route, through the Great Lakes to Chicago, and by rail from there to Seattle. The trip from Seattle to Los Angeles was made on the Ruth Alexander. John reports that he ran into a little bit of all kinds of weather on the way out, as it was raining in Detroit, snowing in Butte, with sunshine in large quantities in California. He has completed two years of work at the eastern university.

Jewish History Forms Bible Class Subject

Attendance at the men's Bible study class of the First Methodist church was large Sunday morning, and unusual interest was shown in the double subject of the restoration of Israel and the rebuilding of the temple of Jerusalem, according to Edward Hoskyn, teacher. The ancient Bible story was used to illustrate the present necessity for response to the call to abandon sin, a call to service, and a call to worship.

The Sunday school of the church has arranged to hold its annual picnic Saturday afternoon, June 28, at the Monte Vista park, in Sunland. Plans are being made to serve dinner to several hundred, and a program of games will be carried out. The Brotherhood will hold its monthly banquet on Friday night in the social parlors of the church, with H. V. Adams, a nationally known chautauqua lecture, as the speaker. His subject will be "Musical Waves."

High School Cabinet Changes Are Effected

The retiring members of the Glendale Union High school cabinet were hosts to the newly elected members at a banquet held at 6:30 o'clock last night at the Harriett Mae tea rooms. Each of the officers at this time turned over his office to his successor and the new members were called on for short speeches and Howard Elliott, retiring student body president, presented the gavel to Leslie Lavelle who was elected last week. Principal and Mrs. George U. Moyse were guests at the banquet and each gave a short talk.

Planning Commission Approves Tract Maps

It was voted to convene at the City Hall Monday morning, June 23, at 9 o'clock, and go over the tracts indicated in two or three other subdivision maps that were up for approval at last night's meeting.

LONGER SPAN OF LIFE PREDICTED

Better Knowledge of Health Laws Tends to Extend Man's Existence

Will the men and women of tomorrow be still hale and hearty after they have passed the century mark? If we may judge by the ever increasing span of the average human life, we may safely assume that they will.

In the extending of life's span, it is the little things that count. Minor ailments must be caught and checked; and considerable importance is attached to the matter of proper nutrition and personal hygiene. Instruction in these subjects is now given in the school room.

Clubs, health centers and similar organizations have carried this work into the home; and one of the outstanding results is the increasing use of ice as a means of food preservation. It is pointed out by authorities that ice not only prevents many forms of illness by keeping foodstuffs fresh and wholesome, but likewise assures the maximum amount of nourishment from the food consumed. In cases where foodstuffs are not kept on ice, much of its nutriment is lost through bacterial action long before it exhibits the usual signs of spoiling.

Graham Crackers

By F. A. GRAHAM

A paper says: "In winning sixteen straight games the Glendale Sox have downed such sparkling hurlers as Guy Cooper, Lefty Thomas, Leon Bell and others." That list will never mean anything until it includes the name Jack Keefe.

Ty Cobb is not a pitcher, but Babe Ruth tried to knock a home run off his chin the other day. Babe went out, umpire to clubhouse.

A household note says: "Always keep cheese in a well-covered cheese dish." How can you get the L. A. ball club in a covered dish, I ask it?

In a radio talk Annette Kellerman said she had just finished two sets of tennis and felt like a 2-year-old, but she failed to specify whether egg or horse.

"Motion picture star advertises entire wardrobe for sale."—Advertising note. Another actress going in for bathing beauty comedies, no doubt.

Annette Kellerman also told the women over the radio that there were several good swimming pools in the vicinity of Los Angeles, but she never said a word about Kelly pool.

"Couple Wed Aboard Ship." Very appropriate, as they no doubt were all at sea anyway.

Peggy Joyce is involved in another tender romance, which will probably turn out to be legal tender.

Some of the convention speeches have been applauded. This is cheering to everybody except the third party. Nothing seems to cheer them.

If the third party wants to gain popular favor, let them advocate not a more elastic currency but a currency that will prove slightly more adhesive.

That's just what I thought.

PAST PRESIDENTS OF TUESDAY CLUB LUNCH GUESTS

Mrs. Daniel Campbell Gives Affair for Women on Executive Board

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, assisted by her daughter, Kathleen, had the happiness of celebrating her birthday yesterday with a luncheon at the Oakmont Country club, where she entertained a group of Tuesday Afternoon club women, past presidents of the club, those who have served on the executive board during her two years as president, and local club editors.

It was a delightfully informal gathering of women who have been closely associated during the past two years, and reminiscences of long time friendships, early days in Glendale and the growth of the Tuesday Afternoon club were features of this social gathering, given before the installation of the newly elected club officers today.

Dainty Colleens

The luncheon table was pretty with sweetpeas in soft pink and lavender shades. At the places were dainty little Irish colleens, significant in that the "Emerald Isle" was the birthplace of Mrs. Campbell.

After luncheon the hours flew all too rapidly as the company visited informally in the club lounge. Childhood experiences, anecdotes and informal discussion of club plans for the coming year were enjoyed.

Those Attending

Among those in the company were Mesdames A. H. Montgomery, C. W. Houston, William Hunter, Frank Ayars, M. E. Plasterer, A. A. Barton, E. W. W. Hayward, H. E. Bartlett, Lillian Dow, B. O. Holbrook, John Dunn, E. B. Sutton, John Robert White, Jr., A. P. Findlay, R. A. Blackburn, C. E. Hutchinson, Daniel Campbell, Misses Gertrude Gibbs, Corinne Orff, Katherine V. Sinks and Kathleen Campbell.

Proceeds are to go to the benefit of the charity fund of the lodge.

Glendale people are particularly interested in the production for it is directed by Harry Girard of Glendale, and Agnes Cain Brown, (Mrs. Girard) will appear in the lead.

Women Interested

This is Mrs. Larkey's fourth national convention. "I think the most significant thing about this convention," says Mrs. Larkey, "is the nation-wide interest evident among college and professional women."

After the convention she will visit Washington, D. C., attending the convention of the National Education association, visit other cities, an don her way home stop in Dubuque, Iowa, to visit her father, who is now 86 years old. In her home city she will take part in a big family reunion.

THERESA CLARK IS MARRIED TO HARRY L. BROOKS

Wedding Gown of Ivory Satin Recalls Nuptials of Bride's Mother

Rich ivory satin of wondrous beauty, fashioned years ago in Paris, France, for the wedding gown of her mother, was worn today, Tuesday, June 17, 1924, by Miss Theresa Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Clark, who became the bride of Harry Lafon Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brooks of 1103 Spruce street, South Pasadena, at a high noon ceremony at the Clark home at 512 West Doran street.

The marriage ceremony was read by Dr. Dean, Baptist minister from Pasadena, before a company of eighteen relatives and intimate friends.

Quaint Creation

Miss Clark, who is of the dark type, appeared most beautiful in her mother's bridal gown. Fashioned from the exquisite ivory satin, with moire stripes, it is a quaint creation of years ago. The skirt is elaborately made with train effect, while the waist is basque, sleeveless, with Brussels lace about the shoulders and around the collar, which stands up gracefully.

Adding to the careful handwork, richness of materials and sentimental worth of the gown, is a wondrous scarf of Brussels lace, the handwork of three Belgian women, who devoted one year to its making. This piece was purchased for Mrs. Clark by her father for her wedding gown.

It was originally worn as a skirt drape, but Miss Clark wore it today draped from her left shoulder.

Her bouquet was a shower of orchids, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. She wore no veil.

Attending her was her sister, Miss Dorothy Clark, who wore old rose and silver and carried Cecil Brunner roses and fern.

Bouquets of lavender sweetpeas were the only floral decoration for the ceremony and informal reception following.

Leave on Honeymoon

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brooks left for a short wedding trip, from which they will return to occupy the Lewis Brooks home in South Pasadena, while Mr. Brooks' parents are in Europe for a summer trip. Later they will build a bungalow home.

The Clark family is widely known in California. Mr. Clark was the builder of the Arlington hotel in Santa Barbara. Later the family lived in Los Angeles, and recently came to Glendale and bought the home on West Doran street.

Mr. Brooks is a member of the Brooks Art Concrete company in Pasadena.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

We now call it death to leave this world, but were we once out of it, and installed into the happiness of the next, we should think it were dying indeed to come into it again.—William Sherlock.

TEACH LIFE'S LESSONS EARLY

Parents of moderate means are as apt to spoil their children by giving them things they cannot afford and allowing them too many privileges as are people of great wealth. There are many homes where the father works hard for a salary or wages and the mother necessarily spends all of her time in caring for the family and the home, and where children old enough to go to high school are not given one iota of responsibility, where they have no duties whatever, and where all of their time out of school is their own to do with as they please.

They are not surrounded by luxuries like the children of the very wealthy, but they are not learning any more of the lessons of life than their rich companions.

Mothers and fathers erroneously think they are being kind to their children when they shield them from all hardships, give them no duties and dress them beyond their means. A family of very limited means recently sold a home in a certain locality and moved to another just because a young daughter decided she wanted to attend another high school. The merit of the school had nothing to do with it; she liked the crowd better at the second school. Although she is very bright she is in a fair way to being ruined by the over-indulgence of her parents. These people are laying up heartache for themselves and for their so-dearly-loved daughter. She will have to learn life's lessons some day, and the older she is the harder they will be. She will never thank her parents for denying themselves for her. Even now they are beginning to think her ungrateful when they have never taught her gratitude.

That is the sad thing about life. We cannot live it for another.

MODESTY IS A VIRTUE

The American people are quick to recognize merit and reward it with fame. This distinction has rightfully come to Mrs. Gene Stratton Porter as a writer and a naturalist. Mrs. Porter has written a number of books that have a wide reading and are justly popular. Some of her stories are not true to life, and yet they are wholesome and better reading for the young than much of the fiction that is read today. Some contend that stories like Michael O'Halloran should not be given to children to read because it does not show life as it is. There never was a boy like Michael O'Halloran, and there never will be, and yet it will not hurt your boy to have Michael for his ideal.

Whatever we may think of Mrs. Porter's work as an author, some who heard her speak at the biennial convention in Los Angeles say they would have more admiration for her if she were more modest in regard to her work. There are many, many fiction writers and nature writers who have won equal and greater distinction than Mrs. Porter, and there are many magazines that use features of greater merit than her articles in McCall's. Modesty is admirable in any one. Praise sounds better coming from other lips than our own.

COURTESY AT CROSSINGS

The traffic situation calls for patience and co-operation. There is no excuse for the motorist grudging the pedestrian the right to cross the street, and there is no need for the pedestrian to hold resentment against the motorist. If both would be reasonable there would be less danger of accidents at crossings. Some people think they belong to another race of beings when they get behind the wheel of a motor car. There is the driver who shoots in just ahead of the one who is walking, shakes his head ominously as much as to say, "You shouldn't be out on the street at all"; and the one who honks his horn at the pedestrian's back and nearly scares him to death after the danger is all over.

Then there is the pedestrian who crosses the street slowly and deliberately, looking in neither direction. The idea is to prove that he or she has some rights, and that all traffic will have to stop until he gets across. Of course, no motorist will deliberately run over a pedestrian, but many a one has to restrain himself when a man or a woman adopts this method of holding up traffic. A little consideration and courtesy on the part of both would facilitate traffic at crossings where there is no officer and no signal.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

Leaders in the Woman's party have at last seen the light. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt has advised all women to get into one of the old parties. Both parties are in need of reform, and if the women want to do house cleaning they can do it much easier if they get inside the house. The Woman's party movement has been wasted effort. Those who sponsored it were women of high ideals, but they have not accomplished anything save waste of time. There is no reason for sex to line up against sex in politics, and if reforms are to be brought about it will be because men and women co-operate to that end.

Mrs. Catt says women must acknowledge that they are not capable of holding high positions in government, and adds that many men are not capable either. The fact of the matter is that in politics men and women are very much alike. It is to be hoped that the strength of the Woman's party when swung into action in the old parties will force some needed legislation for which they, as a party, have been working. But it is very likely that they will vote very much as the men and women already in the old parties have been voting for years.

MUST HAVE QUALIFICATIONS

The time is past when the selection of a candidate for vice-president of the United States in party conventions will be regarded as an unimportant matter. Calvin Coolidge is president of the United States by accident—by two accidents, in fact, for his nomination as vice-president was little more than accidental. Party leaders are seeing the danger of electing a vice-president not capable of being president, hence the great concern at the Republican convention to nominate an able man as a running mate for Coolidge.

BEHIND THE SCENES AT G. O. P. CONCLAVE WITH BUSHNELL

Negatives

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Those who love negatives will love the longest. The trouble with high colors is that they die out in their satisfaction.

The advantage of the commonplace is that it lasts longer, it is ever with us.

Those who love the green grass endure longer than those who love the pretty flowers.

Man cannot go from drunkenness to drunkenness, from high spot to high spot. Most of the traveling is by way of the valley.

Therefore, those who love the more somber colors and sounds will get more satisfaction out of life than those who live from thrill to thrill.

Nature herself has her bird songs now and then, but all the time her winds are softly whispering, not sighing, and the bees are droning.

Always the unusual is on the background of the usual and we must learn to admire backgrounds if we wish to have a permanent admiration for Nature and her works.

Sometimes the wind blows and there is a high storm, but all the time there is some wind and the surf is beating.

The older one gets, the more one seeks the consolation of the drabs, for he learns that the high colors are the privilege of youth and that most of the sharp sounds and striking appearances are but delusions.

Nothing endures but the commonplace.

After the day is done, the night comes on and, to those of contemplative minds, the night is more splendid than the day. The day has its lights and shadows, its striking contrasts. The night has no shadow.

The light of the day, such as the sun, is to see withal, the lights of the nights, as the moon and the stars, are not to see by but to look at. They are rather an adornment of the universe.

The hours of the night are dear, soothing, healthy restoration hours. The hours of the day are hours of energy.

The night, therefore, underlies the day, just as rest and recreation underlie all activities.

Those who have learned to find their satisfaction in negatives shall not be disappointed, for, after all, life is made up mostly of them.

I think of all this as I look upon Nature, which, in all of her energies, seems to be so quiet and passive and yet so relentless and enduring.

I look upon the tree. It moves not as I do, is altogether unvocal. It has not the high joys which I have, nor the poignant sorrows. Yet it was here before I was, and it shall be here after I am gone.

Whatever Nature does and produces has the unhurrying stamp of Eternity.

BEING A GOOD CITIZEN
(From Santa Ana Register)

Says Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, referring to the liquor situation:

"I am an American citizen, and as such bound by every consideration of loyalty and gratitude to my country to stand by its Constitution and obey its laws. I am a sworn official, under solemn oath to obey and defend the Constitution and enforce the laws. What is more, every official of every township, county, city and state, and of the nation itself, has taken the same oath.

"I have the choice to keep my oath, and with it my self-respect, or to disregard it. The evidence is clear that thousands of sworn officials have chosen not to keep their oath, and consequently have lost all title to respect of any kind as well as to the name of loyal American."

This is a statement that deserves respectful consideration in every state in the Union, and among every class of citizens, quite aside from the position and personality of the speaker. Surely no public official can assume to be a good American if he deliberately ignores so important a law as the dry law, whether he agrees with its purpose or not. And surely no private citizen can be a good American who breaks that law by bootlegging or connives at its infraction by patronizing bootleggers.

As Governor Pinchot reminds the public, such citizens are doing more to undermine respect for law than all the Communists, Bolshevists and Anarchists for whom they express so much horror.

TELL OF COAST ROAD
(From Santa Barbara News)

Organization has been begun by those interested in the presentation to the public of the facts concerning the coast highway. To that organization every person living in any of the cities along this route between San Francisco and Los Angeles should give their best support.

Through chambers of commerce and other organizations, the cities lying along the San Joaquin valley route between the northern and southern sections of the states have succeeded in securing for that route more than its just proportion of the automobile travel.

Now the counties along the coast highway have wakened to the fact that travel to which they were entitled had been diverted to the other side of the mountains and they propose to see to it that it comes back.

There is no comparison between the advantages of the two routes. At every season of the year, travel by the coast route is much more pleasant than through the valley.

The variety of scenery on the coast highway is in striking contrast with the monotony of the outlook through the valley, where for miles the way lies through a flat plain, the road stretching ahead like an unending ribbon.

Mountains and ocean, varied landscape, with innumerable delightful stopping places make the coast road one of the most attractive drives in the state.

Proper advertising alone is required to bring increased travel along this route. The organization of the present association insures the publicity that this road deserves.

THE STEADY WORKER
(From Hollywood Citizen)

The American record for steady work probably goes to Edward Slattery of North Eaton, Mass. He has been employed continuously by one firm for 58 years. He arrived from Limerick, Ireland, in 1866, started working two days later for a shovel and tool factory and has been working for it ever since. In all that time he has not lost one day on account of sickness.

"This," somebody will say, "is the kind of immigrants we used to get." It is a good kind, at any rate. If there were more Edward Slatterys coming into the country, there would be less hostility toward immigration.

Worth While Verse

KIND ARE HER ANSWERS

Kind are her answers
But her performance keeps no day,
Breaks time as dancers
From their own music when they stray.
All her free favors
And smooth words wing my hopes in vain.
O, did ever voice so sweet but only feign?
Can true love yield such delay,
Converting joy to pain?

Lost is our freedom
When we submit to women so;
Why do we need 'em
When, in their best, they work our woe?
There is no wisdom
Can alter ends by fate prefixed.
O, why is the good of man with evil mixed?
Never were days yet called two
But one night went betwixt.

—Thomas Campion.

Good Old Days, Then And Now

The difference between then and now, today and the "good old days" is in no way shown more clearly than in the matter of transportation. Our parents, perhaps, came from the old country, spending three weeks on the Atlantic in order to found a home in the land of the free; or they may have migrated from New York, Pennsylvania or Maryland to the middle west, or from the middle west to the far west, making the journey in prairie schooners. They drove oxen or horses through the untracked wilderness, taking weeks and months for the journey. Horses or oxen attached to clumsy wagons was the only method of transportation known at a time within the memory of many people who are living today. Twenty-five years ago and less the rubber-tired buggy and surrey were the vehicles in common use, and the well-to-do rode behind spans of high-stepping, well-matched teams of horses. We had the steam trains, but the electric raiway was just beginning to replace the horse-drawn street car, the automobile had just begun to make its appearance and the horse-drawn cab was still in use. We laughed at the idea of the horseless carriage ever coming into universal use and the very idea of air transportation was enough to provoke mirth.

Today automobile transportation has become so general as to constitute a problem in traffic management and a menace to life. Hauling by automobile truck is beginning to supersede freight transportation by steam trains. Luxurious high-powered motor cars and air limousines have taken the place of the carriage and the high-stepping bays. And these modern means of travel are so much more rapid as not to be comparable with the old. The jonrney from Glendale to Chicago is made in three days by limited train; scarcely more than a week is required in the family automobile, and by airplane the journey is matter of hours only. Luxurious floating palaces on the sea make records, also, in crossing the oceans that were little dreamed of a few years ago.

Speed and luxury are the watchwords in modern transportation. Almost any family can take a long trip over the week-end, drive a hundred or two hundred miles and be back in time to go to work Monday morning; the sort of a trip that would have been taken once in a lifetime by our grandparents.

Automobile and airplane traffic bring their problems. Neither have been perfected yet, by any means. The world is criticised for moving too fast today; it is said that our desire for speed and luxury will lead to disaster. But consider how modern transportation is drawing the world together, making us all neighbors, bringing understanding of each other's needs. We can't go back to the "good old days" when a fifty-mile trip was a long journey, and we do not want to.

Horoscope

Copyright, 1924, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Although there is the element of uncertainty in this day's planetary rule, according to astrology, there is abundant promise of fair luck. Saturn and Venus are in benefic aspect.

Women have the forecast of good progress in whatever they undertake in the way of professional or commercial activity.

Honors to women past early youth are indicated, and one may perceive appointment to high office.

Real estate is subject to good influences which seem to indicate much activity in many parts of the country. Factories and homes will multiply, the seers declare.

Hotels and restaurants should profit greatly during this month, in which there will be much travel east and west.

This should be a profitable time for theatres in many parts of the countries. Stars new and old will receive much praise and gain additional fame.

It would seem, from the relation of Saturn and Venus at this time, that the artistic and industrial side of the theatres and pictures will harmonize more closely than in the past.

Again a grave dispute with a foreign power is foretold for England, while Russia will have new troubles, it is prophesied.

The deaths of writers, publishers, educators and lawyers may increase greatly in proportion to the usual mortality list during the summer months.

Betrothal of a prince is strongly forecast and it may be that Wales will marry before the end of the year, astrologers announce.

Turmoil in many parts of the world will mark the early autumn and there will be rumors of war, but the seers warn that peace must be made as general as possible if civilization is to survive.

Persons whose birth date it is have a happy augury for the year which should bring much financial gain. Young widows will be especially susceptible to romance.

Children born on this day probably will climb to a high place. These subjects of Gemini usually hold important offices. Girls may marry men much older than themselves, and many will wed widowers.

KILLERS ACTIVE AROUND NEW YORK

Underworld Feud Blamed for Bill Brennan's Death By Gotham Gunmen

manded $100, "to make a getaway." He said he had just killed a man. Others had often appealed to Wilkins for funds. The man thought himself secure. But Wilkins refused the money. The fleeing man shot him dead. Next day he gave himself up to the police rather than to run the risk of falling into the hands of Wilkins' colored friends, who had formed themselves into posses and had sworn to lynch "Charleston Yellow" if they could ever catch up with him.

Wilkins' cafe also once had a rather intimate connection with the prize ring. He was the great friend and early financial backer of Jack Johnson. Thousands of white persons used to go to Wilkins' place just to see Jack Johnson. Usually the pugilist was surrounded by women, some of them white. Often he would dance with some of the white feminine visitors who got some sort of bizarre thrill out of the performance. Wilkins probably got back most of the money he invested in Johnson through the patronage of the curious.

Find Empty Flasks

In those days Wilkins' place was in the old tenderloin, or the "early thirties." Later he moved far up to Harlem. Bill Brennan's place was still farther up town, in 171st street. All of which points to the fact that a good deal of the night life of New York is nowadays far above the line of the "Roaring Forties," renowned in story and song. The Great White Way is moving north. The police have padlocked a lot of the downtown jazz palaces and gilded cabarets, but there are plenty of places uptown where one can still find surcease from the eighteenth amendment, if one is inclined to look so loosely upon the stated law of the land.

In looking over Bill Brennan's place after the murder the police found a whole barrel of empty whisky bottles. Maybe the patrons of the place had brought the whisky in themselves and had left the empties as souvenirs, but it is believed the barrel represented nothing more than the gleanings of a single night.

Uptown New York is where real New Yorkers gather for their evening entertainments. There are plenty of theatres to go to before supping and dancing into the late hours. The theatrical people call the uptown show shops the "Subway circuit" because they surround the underground railways system's more important stations.

Firearm Statute

Despite the recent killings and the daring hold-ups, the police of the city insist there is nothing like a crime wave in the metropolis and say that prospective visitors to the Democratic national convention should not be affrighted. Crime apparently is too well organized in New York to bother with a casual visitor or a casual victim. Always the highwaymen and the murderer have a definite objective and go to it unerringly. Sometimes an "innocent by-stander" gets a stray bullet in the neck but that applies to every city of the land. A United States senator in Washington innocently got hit in a bootleg battle. Therefore, it is argued that New York is just as safe for the Democracy as any place could be. There is a state law against possessing a pistol, much less carrying it. The result is that only the criminals have firearms.

SYCAMORE ROAD PLAN APPROVED

Supervisors Order Necessary Specifications Drawn Up; Start Work Soon

Actual construction on the flood wash in Sycamore canyon will be started within the next three weeks, according to Dr. L. Gossman, a resident of the canyon. The members of the Board of Supervisors have passed upon the plans and have ordered a set of specifications drawn up immediately.

The wash will be of concrete, 20 feet with 5 feet shoulders, and will extend from the city limits of Glendale to the Anderson property. As soon as the new owner of the Anderson property, Bert Farrar, opens up Chevychase estate, the wash will be extended to Pasadena. The flood control ditch will be an open conduit, but property owners who want to have the conduit covered can make the improvements at their own cost, the supervisors said.

Display Cases

To the left of the fountain will be the kodak store, telephones and magazine departments. The floor will be of tile. In the center of the store a number of beautiful glass display cases to be used for toilet goods, etc., will be placed.

A small basement is being installed for housing the refrigerating system and carbonizing tanks and pumps. Over the basement a modern and scientifically equipped kitchen, sanitary in every respect, is to be built. An interesting part of the kitchen equipment is a monster electric cream whipper, which will be used for the whipping of sweet cream and salad dressings.

The new store will have an indirect lighting system and will be a model for abundance of soft light.

Roberts & Echols, who have been in business in Glendale for the past twelve years, bought the building in March, 1923.

BOARD WILL QUIZ INJURED SAILORS

Probers of Turret Explosion Go to Hospital Ship For New Evidence

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Members of the naval board of inquiry seeking to determine the cause of the explosion on the U. S. S. Mississippi, which sent forty-eight gunners to their deaths, moved today to the hospital ship Relief, where injured bluejackets will be examined.

Today's testimony is expected to shed considerable light upon the blasting, as the sailors to be questioned were all in turret number 2, where the blast occurred.

The condition of F. J. Rynes, captain of the turret crew, who was standing closest to the big gun when "something went wrong," was reported improved today. Rynes' story, it is believed, will go a long way in determining the findings of the board.

The investigators had before them today records of the Mississippi, as compiled by Lieutenant-Commander W. R. Carter, senior engineer officer, showing that all of the four air compressors were in good shape at the time of the blast and registering 150 pounds of compressed air just before the final salvo prior to the explosion. This is in contradiction to testimony of several witnesses that the accident was caused by a defective air apparatus, used to clear the bore of the 14-inch gun.

BANDIT GANG IN SERIES OF RAIDS

Police Hunt Perpetrators of Early Morning Holdups; Victim May Die

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—A daring gang of bandits were responsible for a series of holdups here today during the early morning hours, in one of which they left a victim to die after binding him and throwing him into a water ditch, according to reports received by police.

The highwaymen concluded their work by sticking guns into the stomach of Policeman Lee Slager, robbing him of his gun, badge and $2 in cash.

Joseph Robins, night man at a gasoline station, was reported in a critical condition following attack by the bandits, who beat him, tied a rope around his body and cast him into a ditch.

Police pursued the bandits, but, even while being chased, they stopped to hold up a suburban store, where they made off with $200 taken from a cash register.

Protest on Measured Phone Service, Plan

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—A vigorous protest against measured telephone service will be presented before the State Railroad commission by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association June 24, when the state body hears application of the Southern California Telephone company for increased rates, it was learned here today.

The proposed measured plan is to make a charge for each additional message above a fixed amount. Rates for both business and residence telephones would be increased under the proposed new system, it is claimed by its opponents.

FLAGS SHOWN IN WRONG POSITION

Jackson Points Out Errors In Hanging Banners Last Saturday

Many of the flags displayed in Glendale on Flag Day, June 14, were improperly hung, while some were seen in "distress" position and several noticed dragging on the ground, Postmaster J. Ripley Jackson told members of the Exchange club at the luncheon held today noon at the Harriett Mae Tea room. The percentage of houses and business firms displaying the flag on that day was very small, he said.

R. Ernest Tucker, of the Community Service, gave a report on the minstrel show put on by the club recently as a benefit for the Community Service band. He reported a deficit showed. The school officials had refunded the rent paid for the High school auditorium, Mr. Tucker said. He gave the club a check for half the amount received by the band for playing at the formal opening of the Dixie Motor company, owned by W. H. Daniel, a member of the club.

Plan Fishing Trip

President R. E. Johnston, who presided at the luncheon, said the annual fishing trip had been planned for July 3, and the members who made the trip would return July 7. Several lakes near Independence have been tentatively selected as the place whre the members will go.

H. M. Bennett suggested a fishing trip to the Rainbow Trout club, while some of the members proposed an ocean fishing trip. It is possible that three fishing trips will be made by the club members this summer.

The last week in June has been designated as the time when Exchange clubs throughout the country will concentrate their programs on one of the principles of the organization—too many laws. President Johnson referred the program to the members of the civic committee.

Stock Head Waters of Streams with Trout

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—Two hundred thousand trout fry, hauled on mule-back to the headwaters of streams in the Sierras, were planted in Washoe county, Nevada, during May according to the report of George I. James, county game warden just published.

Owing to the extreme lowness of the water it was decided to protect the fry by depositing them at the very headwaters of the streams. All of the fish planted were of good size and will obtain the legal size of six inches next spring.

No trout are being planted by the Nevada authorities in the Truckee river this spring and none will be until there is much more water coming down, it was said.

First Message From New President Read

PARIS, June 17.—"France nourishes no dangerous ambition, but desires only to obtain payment of reparations and guarantees for security which were solemnly promised to her," said President Doumergue in his first message to Parliament this afternoon.

The message on government policy was read simultaneously in the Chamber of Deputies and Senate shortly after 3 o'clock.

"France's problems would be easy to solve," continued the president, "if there were a pure atmosphere of peace everywhere. It is not France's fault that conditions are what they are."

A new rubber vacuum hook that will adhere to metal, polished wood or glass is claimed to be capable of holding a weight up to twenty pounds.

Award Road Contract To Portland Concern

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—The largest road contract to be financed by the state gasoline tax fund today was awarded to the J. H. Tillman company of Portland, Oregon, whose bid was $382,102 for construction of the Rincon sea wall and fill on the coast highway in Ventura county, by the State Highway commission.

The sea wall will replace the dilapidated wooden trestle 1.2 miles in length built some years ago by popular subscription.

Construction of a section eight miles in length of the Auburn-Verdi highway between Colfax and Gold Run, Placer county, was awarded to C. R. Adams of Merced, whose bid was $299,411, as compared with the State Engineer's estimate of $313,735.

Forest Ranger Warns Of Risk from Fires

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—The one unforgiveable sin in forest regions, said Chief Ranger Townsley of the Yosemite National park today, is carelessness with fire.

Thousands of acres of timber which could not be restored in half a century may be destroyed by the careless dropping of a cigarette. "That is why," added the federal official, "anybody convicted of violating the fire laws need look for no mercy from the court."

Extensive steps to protect the great area of federal forest in California have been taken. "Grub" for an entire fire fighting crew is always packed and new equipment has been purchased.

Citrus Institute to Be Held In Pasadena

FIRED AT DINES ON FLOOR, CLAIM

State Seeks to Prove Greer Pumped Bullets Into Prostrate Victim

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—An attempt to show by scientific proof that Horace Greer, former chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film star, had murder in his heart when he pumped three bullets at Courtland S. Dines, Denver millionaire, featured today's session at Greer's trial.

The prosecution will contend stand Dr. Guy Cochran, Dines' physician, and Police Detective Stoll in its effort to picture for the ten women and two men of the jury the millionaire prone on the floor of his apartment and Greer firing a gun at him, upsetting the chauffeur's plea of self-defense.

Greer contends that Dines reached for a bottle to strike him when he went to Dines' apartment to take Miss Normand home.

Prosecution's Aim

"I've shot a man. I don't know if he is dead or not. I would have shot more at the dirty rat if the gun hadn't jammed," Greer was quoted as saying by Stoll. Two bullets were located by X-ray in Dines' body and a third was found imbedded in the wall near the floor.

The prosecution will conttend on this evidence that Greer first shot Dines, knocking him off his feet and then fired, but missed, while he was down, the third bullet clipping Dines' ear.

Neither Miss Normand nor Miss Purviance was in court today.

Edith Burns, Miss Normand's former secretary, will follow Stoll on the witness stand.

Britain Holds Mexico Action as Affront

LONDON, June 17.—The British government regards the Mexican government's charges against H. C. He said the government would send the Hohler mission to Mexico to investigate and report on the case.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. B.—Yes, occasionally a polypus will grow again after being cut off. Polypi are abnormal, pear-shaped growths from the mucous membranes of the nose, bladder, rectum, etc. The growth-producing membrane cannot always be all removed. A second operation has to be performed if they grow again.

Hemophilia is a condition in which the blood does not coagulate properly, so even trivial injuries may be serious. It is usually hereditary. The diet should be the diet I am recommending all of the time for good health. It is: Three or four glasses of milk; liberal helpings of vegetables, especially the green leaf vegetables; large salads, fruit, whole grain cereals and breads, and so on. With hemophilia, plenty of milk, with its high calcium salts, should be taken, for one theory as to the cause of the disease is that there may be a deficiency of calcium salts in the blood.

"Dear Doctor—A little over a year ago, I got your instructions in reducing. I am only 19 years of age, and I weighed 158 pounds. I now weigh 136 pounds and have a much more pleasing figure. I have spread your wonderful message to many of my friends and now they are bringing the message to their friends, and so it will go on making a healthy and happy nation. Praise be to Allah for the good work you are doing! The only thing I would like to do now is to reduce my legs and ankles. Your steadfast follower, B."

You can give heavy massage to your ankles and legs and take special exercises for them. One of our followers writes that she reduced hers by wearing elastic surgical stockings. You can get them at any surgical supply house. Constant pressure does undoubtedly help.

There is a corrugated hand massager with which you can give yourself massage that is very good, not only for fat in spots but for general fat. I'll give the name of this roller on request.

The size of the ankles and legs is not always controllable, because it seems to be an inherited characteristic. However, much can be done by a general reduction and special exercises. I think your other troubles will be lessened when you practice the instructions given in the articles which you requested. Thank you, dear, for spreading the message.

Mrs. D.—The medical profession will conquer cancer sooner or later unless the anti-vivisectionists are successful in doing away with all animal experimentation.

There was a report in the newspapers recently that a serum had been perfected which would cure cancer not too far gone. I understand the final report is going to be given to the world very soon. I cannot tell about this, because I have read only the newspaper reports. We do know this about cancer—chronic irritations, such as the irritation from a ragged tooth, or the irritation of smoking, will cause cancer in the mouth. We know that warts and moles in a position to be irritated are apt to take on cancer growths later in life.

There are some notable physicians who believe that a diet lacking in the elements the system needs, combined with chronic absorptions from the intestinal putrefactions, does predispose to cancer formation. They attribute the increase of cancer to the change in our diet from the natural foods containing the elements to refined foods lacking them.

The only cure we know for cancer now is to have the suspicious tumor removed very early, before the cancer cells are distributed in the body.

The fact that your father died of cancer and your mother is dying of cancer does not mean that you necessarily will die of cancer, because it has not been proved to be hereditary. Keep your weight normal and live a hygienic life. Stop thinking about cancer (not that thinking will cause it, but it will depress you and that undermines your health).

Tomorrow—Insomnia No. III.—Continued from Last Week.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Mrs. T.—"Please tell me how to put down eggs in some other way than by the use of waterglass."

Answer — The Lime-Water Method is equally as successful as the Water-Glass Method. Here are the directions: Bring five gallons of water to a boil and let stand till cold. Then add to it three pounds of unslaked lime and let stand till the water is clear. Pour this solution over the eggs, which you have previously cleaned (to clean the eggs, wipe them off with a soft cloth dipped in cold vinegar), having the eggs in a crock which has been washed out with boiling water. Let the lime water rise above the eggs two inches. Cover the crock tightly and store in a cool, dry place. If your family is small, halve this recipe.

A. S.—"I wonder if any of your readers can give me directions for a Peacock Face Cloth?"

Answer—Perhaps some kind housekeeper friend will happen to have these directions and will send them to me to publish here.

R. O.—"What will take a huckleberry stain out of a dark blue Russian crepe dress? A professional cleaning establishment has failed to remove it."

Answer—I am afraid that anything that would remove this stain would also remove the dye in the dress. Sometimes a fruit stain on colored goods can be removed by sponging with alcohol containing a few drops of ammonia—but if you wish to try this method, be sure to experiment with a sample of the goods before going ahead with the dress itself. If the professional cleaners could do nothing for you, I am afraid the stain is hopeless.

Mrs. R. E.—"I have a reversible coat which is tweed on one side and leather on the other. I suppose the tweed can be cleaned with gasoline, but what will clean the leather?"

Answer—Any good brand of liquid shoe cleaner can be used on the leather side of the coat. Or make your own leather cleaner by combining equal parts of soap solution, denatured alcohol and paraffin oil. Or use this leather-cleaning formula if you prefer: Dissolve one bar of white soap in one cup of hot water; let cool, then add one cup of denatured alcohol and two cups of any light oil. Yes, the tweed is best cleaned with gasoline.

Answer—Thank you, reader friend, for this hint.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Anxious—Directions as to quantity and time for taking any of the preparations in which there is cod liver oil will always be on the package. If you take the oil by itself, it will depend upon your needs and your digestion, just what size the doses should be. Some people take a whole tablespoonful of the oil three times a day, but this is after they have experimented for a time with it. Begin with a teaspoonful and increase the size of the doses as your digestion becomes accustomed to the oil. After the weather gets warm you will not need the oil, so discontinue it over the summer.

I. L. L.—It makes no difference when you use cream on your skin. Night time is suggested merely because the skin can then be cleared of the day's soil. Massage chin with finger tips in a rotary motion, working from base of throat upward and outward to tip of chin. Always aim to lift the facial muscles, for one of the reasons why some people have double chins is because of sagging of the muscles. Use cold water on chin and throat after the massage to tone the skin and improve the circulation under it. A general astringent treatment for face and throat each week will also help you get rid of the condition under the chin.

H. G. R.—Exercises for reducing shoulders and back of neck are as follows: Place fingers on the points of the shoulders and rotate the shoulders in a circle.

For bust reduction: Stand erect with hands on hips. Move elbows backward as far as possible, bring forward and then backward for a number of times.

M. I. L.—Try rubbing some of the oil out of your hair, so there will not be the necessity for shampooing it is often as once each week; although you may shampoo much oftener when hair is short as it makes up for the loss of oil in washing it much more quickly than in the case of long hair.

Micky—I did not find the self-addressed, stamped envelope in your letter so I will have to ask you to send again in order to have the eyelash formula mailed to you.

An Admirer—There is nothing to apply to the nails to make them grow. Nails grow much faster when they are kept manicured, one reason is because there is no chance for any tightening of the skin, as there is when it is allowed to grow over the base of the nails. Buffing the nails helps, too, as it improves the circulation under and around the nails.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. ## Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen:

After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years . . . after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation.

. . . I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran relieves mild and chronic constipation because it is ALL bran. It brings sure results. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine in nature's own way. Don't experiment. Only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbled. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers everywhere.

The Case of Jennie Brice — Serial Story

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART. Copyright, 1924.

XX—THE SCAR

The coroner held an inquest over the headless body the next day, Tuesday. Mr. Graves telephoned me in the morning, and I went to the morgue with him.

I do not like the morgue, although some of my neighbors pay it weekly visits. It is by way of excursion, like nickelodeons or watching the circus put up its tents. I have heard them threaten the children that if they misbehaved they would not be taken to the morgue that week!

I failed to identify the body. How could I? It had been a tall woman, probably five feet eight, and I thought the nails looked like those of Jennie Brice. The thumb-nail of one hand was broken short off. I told Mr. Graves about her speaking of a broken nail, but he shrugged his shoulders and said nothing.

There was a curious scar over the heart, and he was making a sketch of it. It reached from the center of the chest for about six inches across the left breast, a narrow, thin line that one could hardly see. It was shaped like this:

I felt sure that Jennie Brice had had no such scar, and Mr. Graves thought as I did. Temple Hope, called to the inquest, said she had never heard of one, and Mr. Ladley himself, at the inquest, swore that his wife had had nothing of the sort. I was watching him, and I did not think he was lying. And yet—the hand was very like Jennie Brice's. It was all bewildering.

Mr. Ladley's testimony at the inquest was disappointing. He was cool and collected: said he had no reason to believe that his wife was dead, and less reason to think she had been drowned; she had left him in a rage, and if she found out that by hiding she was putting him in an unpleasant position, she would probably hide indefinitely.

To the disappointment of everybody, the identity of the woman remained a mystery. No one with such a scar was missing. A small woman of my own age, a Mrs. Murray, whose daughter, a stenographer, had disappeared, attended the inquest. But her daughter had had no such scar, and had worn her nails short, because of using the typewriter. Alice Murray was the missing girl's name. Her mother sat beside me, and cried most of the time.

One thing was brought out at the inquest: the body had been thrown into the river after death. There was no water in the lungs. The verdict was "death by the hands of some person or persons unknown."

Mr. Holcombe was not satisfied. In some way or other he had got permission to attend the autopsy, and had brought away a tracing of the scar. All the way home in the street car he stared at the drawing, holding first one eye shut and then the other. But, like the coroner, he got nowhere. He folded the paper and put it in his notebook.

"None the less, Mrs. Pitman," he said, "that is the body of Jennie Brice; her husband killed her; he took the body out in the boat and dropped it into the swollen river above the Ninth Street bridge."

"Why do you think he strangled her?"

"There was no mark on the body, and no poison was found."

"Then if he strangled her, where did the blood come from?"

"I didn't limit myself to strangulation," he said irritably. "He may have cut her throat."

"Or brained her with my onyx clock," I added with a sigh. For I missed the clock more and more.

He went down in his pockets and brought up a key. "I'd forgotten this," he said. "It shows you were right—that the clock was there when the Ladleys took the room. I found this in the yard this morning."

It was when I got home from the inquest that I found old Isaac's basket waiting. I am not a crying woman, but I could hardly see my mother's picture for tears.—Well, after all, that is not the Brice story. I am not writing the sordid tragedy of my life.

That was on Tuesday. Jennie Brice had been missing nine days. In all that time, although she was cast for the piece at the theatre that week, no one there had heard from her. Her relatives had had no word. She had gone away, if she had gone, on a cold March night, in a striped black and white dress with a red collar, and a red and black hat, without her fur coat, which she had worn all winter. She had gone very early in the morning or during the night. How had she gone? Mr. Ladley said he had rowed her to Federal street at half after six and had brought the boat back. After they had quarreled violently all night, and when she was leaving him, wouldn't he have allowed her to take herself away? Besides, the police had found no trace of her on an early train. And then at daylight, between five and six, my own brother had seen a woman with Mr. Howell, a woman who might have been Jennie Brice. But if it was, why did not Mr. Howell say so?

Mr. Ladley claimed she was hiding, in revenge. But Jennie Brice was not that sort of woman; there was something big about her, something that is found often in large women—a lack of spite. She was not petty or malicious. Her faults, like her virtues, were for all to see.

In spite of the failure to identify the body, Mr. Ladley was arrested that night, Tuesday, and this time it was for murder. I know now that the police were taking long chances. They had no strong motive for the crime. As Mr. Holcombe said, they had provocation, but not motive, which is different. They had opportunity, and they had a lot of straggling links of clues, which in the total made a fair chain of circumstantial evidence. But that was all.

That is the way the case stood on Tuesday night, March the thirteenth.

Tomorrow—The Arrest.

"East Is West" is drawing large crowds nightly at the big tent of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, between Central avenue and Brand boulevard. The production is lavishly staged and the costumes are said to equal those of any company on the road.

For this play, J. A. Menard, manager of Murphy's Comedians, has gathered one of the best casts ever seen in a road show. Each player is particularly competent to play the role assigned. It is a company of showmen, from first to last.

The story of "East Is West," as many know, is of an American chap in the Orient, who befriends a little Chinese girl, only to learn later that she is really an American, like himself. Naturally, love is the animating motive of the play, but there is a suave villain who contrives to keep things exciting throughout the performance.

BELIEVES IN WORK

If would-be film celebrities were schooled in their work like actors and actresses of the Russian theatre the films would be the universal standard of the histrionic art. So says Mme. Medea Radzina, who plays Fezileh, a Moorish harem wife in Frank Lloyd's "The Sea Hawk" a First National Picture.

THE GLENDALE

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew" continues at the Glendale Theatre.

THE GATEWAY

"Three Weeks," Elinor Glyn's classic, concludes today at the Gateway Theatre. Starting Wednesday, Buster Keaton's "Sherlock, Jr." is the feature.

THE T. D. & L.

Pola Negri in "Men" concludes at the T. D. & L. Theatre today. Wednesday only, "The Bedroom Window," a William De Mille production, will show.

KIRKWOOD IN 'CIRCE'

James Kirkwood, hero of many picture dramas, will appear opposite Mae Murray in "Circe," her new starring picture for Tiffany productions which Robert Z. Leonard is directing.

'IT'S A BOY!'

John Mescall, chief cameraman with the King Vidor-Elinor Glyn company, is wearing a smile that won't come off. Mrs. Mescal presented him with a nine-and-a-half-pound infant son. The newcomer is to be named John Jr.

PATSY RUTH MILLER

Patsy Ruth Miller was born in St. Louis, educated in a convent in that city. She went into pictures because she was fascinated with the thought of being an actress. She appeared in minor roles for two years-and-a-half and then got her big chance.

PAULINE DOUBLES UP

When the powers that be at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios began looking for an actress to play the title role in the film version of "Mrs. Paramor," from the Louis Joseph Vance novel of the same name, they took their time about it, but have finally engaged just the person that they feel will above all others give the best interpretation of the part.

In other words, they signed Pauline Frederick to play said role, and although Miss Frederick is at present appearing in Frederick Lonsdale's play, "Spring Cleaning," still the role impressed her so deeply that she decided to lead a strenuous double professional life and work both at the theatre and for the screen at one and the same time.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BARK BASKET

"Nurse Jane says you are please to bring her a taper of packs," called Baby Bunty to Uncle Wiggily one day. It was the morning after the little rabbit girl had cried to have the Blinkie Bug up in her room, and that night it frightened the Burglar Fox, as I told you in the story yesterday.

"Nurse Jane wants a taper of packs!" cried Mr. Longears. "What are they?"

"Oh, I mean a paper of tacks!" laughed Baby Bunty, who was on a little visit to Uncle Wiggily. She is going to tack down the carpet in the parlor, and I'm going to help her. I'll come with you and help you get the taper of packs—I mean the paper of tacks, if you want me to," offered Bunty, eagerly.

"No, thank you!" cried Uncle Wiggily, quickly. "I can hop faster if I go alone, Bunty. Tell Nurse Jane I'll bring the tacks after I have an adventure or two."

Uncle Wiggily quickly hopped down the path from his hollow stump bungalow. He didn't want Bunty to come with him, for, though he loved the little orphan rabbit girl, still she was so full of fun and mischief that she was always getting into trouble.

"If I took her she'd stub her toe, or her hair ribbon would come off, or she'd lose a shoe or something like that, and I'd never get anywhere," said Mr. Longears to himself.

So, hopping along by himself, except that he had his pink, twinkling nose for company, Uncle Wiggily whistled a little jolly tune and looked on each side of the woodland path for an adventure.

The only adventure he saw, however, was where a little red ant lady was trying to climb up over a big stone, carrying with her a crumb of cake which Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy, had dropped. While it was only a crumb, to the ant lady it was as large as a loaf of bread would be to a baby, and the poor ant creature was having hard work. But Uncle Wiggily saw her, and said:

"Kindly let me help you, little red ant lady." So he lifted her and the cake crumb, too, over the stone as easily as you can eat a lollypop.

"Thank you," whispered the little red ant lady, and Uncle Wiggily hopped on his way, with a low and polite bow of his tall silk hat.

This was the only adventure Uncle Wiggily found until after he had bought the paper of tacks for Nurse Jane. He was carrying them along in his paw, swinging them to and fro and thinking of what he would have for supper when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman struck the paper of tacks against a tree. The paper box burst, the tacks scattered all about and Uncle Wiggily was sadly surprised.

"Oh, dear! This is too bad! All those nice sharp tacks lost and scattered on the ground! It will take me a week to pick them up, and I'll stick the sharp points in my paw—I know I will! Ouch, there's a stick now!" he cried as he put his paw on one of the tacks.

"What's the matter, Uncle Wiggily?" called a voice, and a large bird, with blue and white feathers, flew down out of a tree.

"Oh, I broke the paper of tacks and they're scattered all over the ground," said the rabbit. "I'll never be able to pick them up."

"I'll help you," offered the Blue Jay, for it was the bird who had spoken to the rabbit. "I can easily pick up sharp tacks in my strong bill and they won't hurt me. But what are you going to put the tacks in after I pick them up? If you drop them in your pocket they will stick through and prick you."

"That's so—they will," agreed the rabbit. "Let me see—I need something like a box! Ah, I know! I'll peel some bark from that birch tree and make a little basket. I can carry the tacks in the birch bark basket and they won't stick through and prick."

From a white birch tree the bunny gnawed some strips of bark, and these he made into a basket. Then the Blue Jay picked up the tacks in his strong bill, dropping them into the bark basket. Uncle Wiggily picked up a few tacks, but not many, for they hurt his paws.

At last all the carpet tacks were picked up and put in the basket. Uncle Wiggily thanked the Blue Jay, and the rabbit was just going to hop along to his bungalow when, all of a sudden the Woozie Wolf jumped out from behind a mulberry bush.

"Wait a minute!" howled the Wolf as the rabbit was about to hop away! "I haven't nibbled any ears today, and I'm going to taste yours!" He looked hungrily at the rabbit.

"You aren't going to nibble his ears," cried the Blue Jay.

"Who will stop me?" boldly asked the bad Wolf.

"I will!" cried the brave Blue Jay. With that the bird flew down and picked two tacks out of the rabbit's bark basket.

"Take that!" cried the Blue Jay, and he dropped the sharp the Wolf's soft and tender nose. point of one tack on the end of "Wow!" howled the Wolf.

"Wait. Here's another!" cried tack on the Wolf's nose, making the bird and he dropped the other the bad chap howl again. Then the Blue Jay flew down toward the bark basket to get more tacks, but the Wolf cried:

"I've had enough. I'll go! I won't nibble any ears today!" And away he ran.

Then the bunny hopped home with the basket of tacks, and the carpet was fastened down. And if the pussy cat doesn't tickle the face of the clock with her tail and make it laugh when it ought to strike the hours, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the honeysuckle.

Mrs. D. S. Scott of 1312 Lomita with the aid of California soil and sunshine has produced in her garden something unusual. Mrs. Scott has had gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums in bloom in her garden for the past two weeks.

A mistaken idea seems to prevail that supplies for the Tuesday Afternoon club luncheon are to be bought in Los Angeles. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, chairman of hospitality, says that such is not the case, for everything used at the luncheon will be ordered by Mrs. Campbell and paid for in Glendale. Mrs. Campbell necessarily had to engage professional caterresses to serve only, from the city, as Glendale cannot yet supply enough professionals to prepare and serve a luncheon for 200 people.

Stocks .·. Finance .·. Business .·. Bonds

INVESTMENTS

By GEORGE T. HUGHES
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

To invest means literally to clothe. To clothe means to protect. An investment is a protected commitment of funds; that is, an investment is putting money into something that is protected so that bad luck, misfortune or other untoward occurrences will not, so far as is humanly possible to foresee, interfere with a regular and certain yield and the ultimate repayment of the money.

An investment banker was explaining something like the foregoing in differentiating between stocks and bonds to a school teacher who had $2000 to invest and who had come in to inquire if "stock-bonds were not a good investment." She was an unusually intelligent woman. I have since learned that she has quite a well-deserved reputation for research work in pedagogy. But she didn't know the difference between stocks and bonds. There are thousands like her.

A member of her school board sent her to the bond house, a good one, and a vice-president in charge of sales had explained patiently to her and then suggested a high-grade bond that yielded 6 per cent.

"Oh, I must have more than that," the teacher objected.

"You've been seven years accumulating your $2000," replied the investment banker. "You are scarcely in a position to speculate or take risks."

"But I read that stock in the Blenkety-Blankety company pays 10 per cent dividends and it seemed reasonably cheap, too. Why shouldn't I buy that?"

"Dividend yields are in themselves insufficent to determine the rating of a stock," said the investment banker., "I happen to know that the Blankety-Blankety company has been maintaining high dividends at the expense of its reserves. The company is solvent, no doubt, but it is not in the healthiest condition. Every sound business must put something by for reserve. You must not make the mistake of judging a stock solely on the size of its dividend payments."

He spent more than an hour explaining. In the end she went out and put her money into a radio stock and lost it.

Why is it necessary for so many persons to learn financial sense by hard experience? They take the plumber's advice, the doctor's and the lawyer's without experimenting. Why not do the same with their investment banker? High returns whether on stocks or bonds are danger signals. And speculation is almost sure loss.

NEW YORK CLOSING

H. J. DUIZEND
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 17.—Continued advances on the stock exchange did much to convince doubters that the bulk of the buying which carried the list forward emanated from constructive sources on the belief that the turn in business was near at hand.

The main characteristic of the day's market was its greater breadth.

The outstanding feature was the strength in public utilities and merchandise stocks.

Kresge was marked up with great rapidity to above 380, rounding out a rise of 93 points since January 1.

Speculative activity broadened as the session progressed, converging first on the tobaccos and the equipments under the leadership of tobacco products and Baldwin and later on the sugars and the coppers. Interest in the steels, oils and motors was at comparatively low ebb. Most of the pivotal issues in the specialty group reached new tops on the current movement, including General Electric, Davison Chemical and National lead. An opposite picture was presented by the three classes of Kelly Springfield shares, which struck new bottoms on the news of the passing of the dividend on the six per cent preferred.

N. & W. reflected disappointment over the delay in the lease negotiations with the Pennsylvania.

Money conditions continued easy. Call money ruled at 2 per cent.

Bonds turned somewhat irregular, following initial strength.

Liberty bonds in particular registered moderate losses on profit-taking.

Foreign governments, too, were subjected to realizing in later dealings.

Grains, cotton and foreign exchanges were irregular.

Stocks were subjected to scattered profit-taking in the last period, but the market's underlying firmness was not disturbed. The market closed steady.

Stock sales today 828,600 bonds $16,148,000.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Heavy selling in Richmond drove that mining issue from 12 cents to 11½ cents during the morning trade, the market opening firm. This precipitated a flood of selling. Scattering sales in other mining stocks also were recorded.

U. S. Royalties in the oil list also were hammered by heavy selling, dropping from 10 cents to 9 cents. On the other hand Julian preferred climbed from $31.75 to $32 and common stood firm at $19.75.

Los Angeles Investment stood pat at $3.55 asked and $3.52 bid, with the prospects of a few sales at the latter price. The Industrial list was quiet and only in the oils and mines was their any reflection of the market.

Plentiful money in the east at low rates in making possible bullish tendencies which are not reflected on the local exchange, it is said.

"Little Daisy" United Verde Extension declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable August 1, stock of record July 3. It has been one of the consistent copper winners.

With oils active, wheat scarce, cotton bearing watching and stocks bearish, O'Brien says "The market is going back to a real supply and demand position. It won't need any legislation or artificial price making. This year's world crops will bring good prices he adds, speaking of grain.

Wheat is going up with very little buying, according to E. F. Hutton's private wire advices. "We are going to have a small crop at the best and it is worthy much more money to the farmer," says the ticker.

SPANISH CHAMP GIVES UP IDEA OF DEMPSEY GO

Floyd Johnson Beats Him to Pulp In Three Rounds; Fight Is Stopped

NEW YORK, June 17.—Andreas Balsa, "champion heavyweight of Spain," won't do—he will never fight Jack Dempsey. Upon that all boxing experts were agreed. Balsa, a bull-necked, full-bodied individual, was given his first chance here last night to show what he could do against American fighters. He was pitted against the young Iowa heavyweight, Floyd Johnson. He was beaten almost to a pulp, beaten so badly, in fact, that the referee stopped the bout in the third round.

It was a sickening, bloody battle. Balsa, with his arms wrapped about his chin, and crouching like a wrestler that he is said to be, rushed at Johnson when the bell sounded for the opening round. Johnson put out his left, stopped the onrushing Spaniard, and then let fly with a terrific right uppercut. Balsa careened against the ropes, and blood poured from his nose.

Hits Hard and Often

Spank! went Johnson's fist again into Balsa's face, as the fight progressed. It was spank, blood; spank, blood; spank, blood. Balsa was a novice, game but untutored. Johnson kept standing back and smashing him.

Blood was all over the ring, all over Balsa's face and smeared across Johnson's body as a result of clinching with the blindly battling Balsa.

In the second round Johnson hit Balsa so often and so hard he was fagged when the gong rang.

Fight Is Stopped

Johnson started to slaughter Balsa in the third. He belted him time and again, finally opening a deep gash over the left eyebrow. Blood spurted out.

"Stop it!" cried the 6000 spectators.

Referee Tommy Sheridan did.

VILLA, GOLDSTEIN BOUT LOOMS SOON

Pancho Out for Abe's Crown; Bud Taylor In Need of More Experience

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, June 17. — It looks as though Pancho Villa and Abe Goldstein will shortly be matched. It isn't so much that Abe wants Villa's title as that Pancho wants Goldstein's bantam crown.

About the only thing a crack flyweight can do is to look higher, there being so few good men in his own class. True, so far as Villa is concerned, there is Genaro and it seems to be on the cards that a battle between the two for the world's flyweight title will be held this summer.

What Bud Taylor needs is more experience. He has everything else. Villa's crouch seemed to bother him more than would have been the case had he had a wide experience.

Bud says that experience is just what he is after these days. When he comes East again he will be filled up with that valuable commodity he says. Taylor by the way will meet Pete Sarmineto in Milwaukee on June 19. A real battle promises.

Pat O'Hara Wood, Gerald Patterson, Robert Schlessinger and Fred Kalms comprise the quartet, the latter two being reserve players. Tom Gallery is host to the party.

In the American league the standings showed no change, as both the Yankees and Red Sox lost, the former to the Indians, 2 to 1 and the latter to the Tigers, 3 to 0. The Yankees still have a full game lead.

TIGERS BACK FOR SERIES WITH L. A.

First Game Is Being Played This Afternoon; Expect Big Attendance

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Today the Tigers are mauling the Angels in the first game of a friendly series on the "home lot" of both clubs in the Pacific Coast League. While Los Angeles has developed some pitchers during Vernon's absence, the hitting ability of the latter's batters should keep everything even and serene.

For those who are inclined to take sides the Los Angeles-Vernon games are always good for a big gate and well filled bleachers.

LIMIT NUMBER OF PLAYERS ON TEAM

Some Clubs to Be Hard Hit In Thinning Out Work; Allow 25 Regulars

By JOHN F. FOSTER
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Beginning Sunday, June 15, the limit rule restricting clubs to twenty-five players went into effect in the major leagues. Managers not only must keep their rosters at twenty-five, but they must refrain from trying out new men unless the new men have been designated as among the twenty-five regulars.

Cincinnati will be hard hit by the thinning out process. This is not so much due to the selection of players as to the number of players who have been injured and whom Cincinnati wants to retain. The White Sox have a hospital list of catchers. The Yanks are bothered with lameness in their infield. The Reds have been hit everywhere except in the box and perhaps they have been hit there, for their pitchers are not living up to expectations.

Both Boston teams are down to fighting trim and so are the Philadelphia teams. The Giants may reduce their pitching staff. Whether Marquard will come around so that he will be able to pitch during the summer for Boston is a question. Felix, a Boston outfielder, and Batchelder, a Boston pitcher are both back in the game after appendicitis operations. Cleveland has had a hard time with injured players and if Stephenson is coming around he will have to be included in the twenty-five men named by Speaker. The Browns will come down to twenty-five easily.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Floyd Johnson of Iowa knocked out Andreas Balsa, Spain, third round; Benny Valger, New York, defeated Harry Kabakoff, St. Louis, ten rounds; Billy Defoe, St. Paul, won decision from Jose Lombardo, Panama, ten rounds.

At Waterbury, Conn.—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, knocked out Frank Moody, Wales, sixth round.

At Newark—Young Bob Fitzsimmons, Nutley, outpointed Jack McAuliffe II, Yonkers, twelve rounds.

At Jersey City—Billy Britton, Kansas City, knocked out Andy Palmer, Philadelphia, first round.

At Allentown, Pa.—Kid Archer of Baton Rouge, La., was given the decision over Joe McGuire of Allentown, eight rounds.

At Scranton, Pa.—Lou Bougash of Bridgeport, Conn., outpointed Joe Libbey of Philadelphia, ten rounds; K. O. Samson of Philadelphia, given referee's decision over Mike Nestor of New York, eight rounds.

At East Chicago—Dave Shade, California, defeated Warnie Smith of Oklahoma, ten rounds; Tillie Herman, Omaha, defeated Panama Joe Gans, ten rounds; Charley Anderson, negro heavyweight, Chicago, shaded Cyclone Rogers, Gary, four rounds; Frankie Welch, Chicago, won from Bud Logan, Minneapolis, eight rounds; Patsy Rocco, Chicago, outpointed Bud Nelan, Los Angeles, eight rounds.

At Louisville—Harry Fay defeated Billy Conley of Seattle, twelve rounds.

BOXERS ANXIOUS TO FIGHT WILLS

Poor Showing Is Cause of Number of Fighters to Seek Chance at Him

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Harry Wills' poor showing against Bartley Madden has made him a target for a lot of fighters who trembled at the thought of him before the Queensboro fight. They all want to fight him now.

Chief among these bellicose fighters is Jack Renault. But, as things are, the Canadian champion has got to do a little uphill work to climb into a bout against some of the good ones. His first step in that direction will be taken on Wednesday night when he meets Andy Schmader, of Omaha. Later on, in the summer, having bowled over a few set-ups, he wants Gibbons and Wills and, if possible, Firpo. His final aim, of course, is Dempsey. Renault was the one man Dempsey never knocked down when he was training for Carpentier at Atlantic City.

George Godfrey, the big black heavyweight, is another fighter who is mourning over the fact that Madden had the crack at Wills. But, unlike Renault, Godfrey has no kick against his manager. Jimmy Dougherty raised heaven and earth to get Paddy Mullins to promise to match his man against Gawge, but without success. As a matter of fact, all the heavies are fighting shy of Godfrey, a fact, says Dougherty, that does not affect the big fellow's appetite,

Australian Net Stars To Play in Hollywood

Local tennis fans will be given a treat when the Australian Davis cup tennis team, strong contenders for the Davis cup this year, will hook up with the best from the Los Angeles Tennis club in exhibition matches at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on the courts at Cahuenga and Melrose avenues, Hollywood.

The Australian team has in its fold such champions as Gerald Patterson, the second Tilden; Pat O'Hara Wood, R. Schlesinger and F. Kalms. The Los Angeles team probably will be headed by Harvey Snodgrass, one of the first ten ranking net demons in the country today; Walter Wesbrook, whose game is nearly as good as Snodgrass's; Tom Ferrandini and Harold Godshall.

High School Tennis Players Seek Match

A match for the tennis championship of this section is being sought by Bob Laird, captain and first man of the local invincible high school net quintet. The team with which Laird is seeking a match is the Franklin High court crew. The Kite Flyers annexed the city championship with little trouble, their only formidable opponents being Los Angeles and Hollywood highs.

If the match is arranged it will be played some time during this week. The locals met the Franklin team about two months ago in a pre-season match and won, 17-0. At the present time the Kite Flyers have a stronger team than before and should give the Dynamiters a battle.

HOOPER GETS HOMER

Hooper's homer with the bases full was the feature of the White Sox victory over the Senators, 9 to 8.

EXACT SCORE OF GAME KEPT QUIET

Given as 5-4, But Spectator Says Figures Resemble Sunland Census

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.

SUNLAND, June 17.—Tujunga valley learned about baseball from the Watts Chamber of Commerce Sunday at Monte Vista park. The score was 5 to 4, but it doesn't mean anything.

The scorekeeper was conservative and recorded all the runs as they came in, with great danger of contracting writer's cramp. Then the steam roller was put into commission and the noes had it, by a whisper. Instead of marking up an overgrown score that looked like the latest census of Sunland, the powers that were decided to make it 4 and 5, a pretty combination that would fool the absent fans. So 5 to 4 it is.

Thoughts Elsewhere

Pico did the sharpshooting for Tujunga Valley, and his aim was not so bad. The trouble was that he wasn't fast enough on his feet to cover the infield, outfield and bases by himself, and his playmates had their thoughts elsetering among the buttercups that should have been corraled in the short grass.

Olafsen and Pfenax proved the hitters of the engagement, getting three hits each. They said they could have done better, but, being Irish, the same as the Tujunga Valley pitcher, they didn't want to take advantage of a countryman.

Score by innings:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Watts C. C. | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | —5 |
| Hits | 0 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | —13 |
| Tujunga V. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 1 | 0 | —4 |
| Hits | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 1 | 2 | 1 | —10 |

Home runs—none. Walks—plenty. Errors—Sufficient; charge defeat to anybody except Pico. Credit victory to luck. Time of game—Sunday afternoon.

Benjamin and Bercott On Vernon Arena Card

Joe Benjamin, regarded as king of the 138-pound scrappers along the coast, will meet a hard-hitting boxer in Dode "Bearcat" Bercott at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena tonight. Benjamin has been taking a rest for some time, but reports from his training camp are to the effect that he is in good shape.

The semi-windup will bring Young Nationalista and Georgie Rivers, bantams, together. Glenn Clinker and Ernie Owens have been matched for a feature preliminary. Other bouts on the card are:

Joe Burns vs. Phil Lewis, 122 pounds; Joe Pimenthal vs. Jack Spencer, 125 pounds; Frankie Osner vs. Felix Villamore, 122 pounds; Joe Kelly vs. Tommy White, 145 pounds. George Blake will be on hand to referee.

DODGERS BEAT REDS

The Dodgers kept up their good work by winning from the Reds, 5 to 2, errors proving fatal to the Redlanders' cause.

Prospective Brides Probe Lovers' Lives

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—Nearly one thousand requests per month during the past year for information on marriage certificates on file, have been made by persons contemplating matrimony to the bureau of statistics, State Board of Health, according to L. C. Ross, in charge of the bureau.

The vast majority of investigators into the past marriage record of their prospective life-partners are girls, said Ross.

Letters asking this information total over 10,000 and show no sign of diminishing. Men, it was declared, are more trustful than women and usually accept as truthful the statements of the girls they intend to lead to the altar.

Save Child's Life as Bottle Cuts Artery

OAKLAND, June 17.—Little Beulah Doyle, 3 years old, owes her life today to the accidental but timely passing of a police ambulance, which discovered her after she had fallen with a milk bottle and severed the arteries in her arms.

The little girl tripped near the curbing while returning home with the bottle and injured herself. She is said to have been bleeding to death when the ambulance, answering another call, discovered her. She was rushed to the receiving hospital where doctors saved her life.

BUSINESS WORLD

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, June 17.—The automobile manufacturers who began this year leaning forward in their anxiety to have enough cars probably will begin 1925 by leaning well back in an effort to avoid having surplus machines on their hands. It is generally agreed that the automobile companies are not likely to enter another winter manufacturing campaign similar to that of the period just passed.

The theory that sales were lost in large numbers in past years owing to inability to deliver cars in April, May and June, was pretty thoroughly punctured by experiences this spring. Sales analysis now shows that the public is likely to rush in and demand cars when they are not plentiful but will hold back orders when they know that every maker has ample stocks on hand. Next spring there is going to be careful guard against over production as a result there may be another so-called shortage.

While the production end of the automobile business in May and so far this month fell to what will probably prove to be the low level of the year, sales of cars at retail in many sections during the last six weeks have shown a decided increase over April. The discrepancy between production and sales represents the reduction in stocks of cars manufactured earlier in the year and means a gradual return to normal.

Had retail sales declined along with production, there might have been something for the automobile men to worry about, but, as matters stand, nearly all the more prominent companies are now near normal as between the number of cars on hand and in possession of dealers. Financiers closely allied with the industry feel that this indicates production shortly will increase to care for late summer and fall demand and for the making of new models.

Total retail sales in Wayne county Michigan, of which Detroit is the center amounted to 8,607 in May. This compares with sales of 7757 for May 1923 which was the previous high record month in that locality. For the five months up to June 1 deliveries in Wayne county were 34,822 as against 27,242 for the corresponding period of 1923. This county is mentioned because practically every prospective car buyer in it is in thorough touch with the trend of automobile output and prices.

Dodge Brothers retail deliveries in May totaled 23,297 as compared wito 20,570 a year ago. This was the largest May business in the history of the company and stocks are lower than any time since volume production was started. May retail deliveries of the Paige Detroit Motor Car company amounted to 5,294 Paige and Jewett cars as compared with 4,800 in May 1923. The total of the company for 5 months amounted to 18,850 as against 17,806 for the corresponding period of last year.

The Ford company has let the contract for a new assembling unit at Dallas, which will bring the plant there to 105,000 cars and trucks a year. The Ford concern has reserve timber supplies at L'Anse Michigan amounting to 36,000,000 feet of which 23,000,000 feet are already cut. The Ford mill is sawing 180,000 feet daily. A place has been made for Edsel Ford on the board of the National Bank of Commerce of Detroit by increasing their number of directors to 19.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The Baltimore and Philadelphia Steamship company has asked bids for construction of two new vessels to operate through the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal as soon as that waterway is navigable. Plans have been prepared for four other new steamers.

MORE RUM CHASERS

SAN PEDRO, June 17.—Fifteen ships have been assigned to the coast guard service to stop rum running to Pacific ports of the United States, it was announced at fleet headquarters today. The destroyers Monaghan, McCall, Trippe, Burrows, Terry, Fanning, Roe, Henley, Porter, Conyngham, McDougal, Cummings and Ericsson, the mine sweeper Redwing and tug Carabasset are in the fleet.

SHIPS ARE DAMAGED

SAN PEDRO, June 17.—More than $150,000 damage has been done in the last ten days to shipping here by oil released into the waters of the inner harbor. Not only did the Union Oil pipe line break at Anaheim crossing, but it is said that careless loading of tankers adds to the film of black scum which is the bane of sailormen's lives.

FACING CHARGES

IMPERIAL, June 17.—Pearl Hicks, formerly police chief of Oklahoma City, according to Sheriff Joe Owndey of Hudson county, Texas, is on his way back to the Texas town where he will face charges of bootlegging. He is wanted on a murder charge in Oklahoma, also, it is said.

BIG COTTON CROP

EL CENTRO, June 17.—The Imperial valley will produce its greatest crop of cotton this year, according to cotton men who predict it will average a bale to the acre.

WATERMELONS BURN

WESTMORELAND, June 17.—There is a saying that if you take a watermelon to the top of a twelve-story building and throw it overboard it is "squash," but it was proved here that watermelons are not fire extinguishers. Three carloads were destroyed in a blaze at local packing sheds; from where 99 cars have been shipped.

Husband Asks Divorce As Wife Grows Rough

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—There was more storm and strife in the eight days Howard H. McCormick and his wife, Paula McCormick lived together than in many years of ordinary life, it is indicated by a complaint filed for divorce by the husband. On March 8, 1923, the last day they lived together, McCormick alleged his wife was guilty of the following sorts of cruelty and annoyance: Tried to commit suicide; threw a cup at his head; threw a can of cherries at him and spattered the juice over his clothes and the walls of the kitchen; hit him with a broom stick; kicked him in the abdomen; told him he was no longer welcome in the apartment.

Since then, McCormick declared his wife has gone under the name of "Miss McCormick and posed as single.

TELLS NEED FOR CORRECT ETHICS

Higher Business Standards Point Way to World Friendship, Claim

TORONTO, Can., June 17.—"Until men meet on the common ground of correct business methods there can be no world fellowship of business men," Guy Gundaker, of Philadelphia, president of Rotary International, told delegates attending the international meeting of Rotarians here today.

"Ethical conduct of business, emphasized and spread throughout the world, will greatly diminish the inclination and disposition on the part of the peoples of the different nations to fight one another. Unscrupulous business methods have been a potent cause of many international misunderstandings, and war has frequently sprung from unethical business manipulations, and desire for monopolistic control.

Remove War Cause

"When the Rotary campaign for ethical business conduct spreads and is accepted and is of world-wide recognition and enforcement, one of the greatest and most serious hidden underlying causes of jealousy and war will have been permanently removed."

"The major Rotary activity for the immediate future will be an increasing and unceasing activity for better business methods and their standardization in codes of ethics. In countries where crafts are organized, with great national associations the greatest opportunity for achievement will be found in Rotary's campa plans and program. Delegates and visitors alike to the Republican gathering seemed to feel that the real story of the coming presidential campaign was to be written in New York rather than in Cleveland and predictions as well as wagers as to the results in November were postponed until the intentions of the Democrats were known.

Hundreds of prominent Republicans announced that they had engaged rooms in New York for the convention period and intended to watch the proceedings to the bitter end. They said they would not miss it for the world and predicted that the Democratic convention throng would be fully four times the size of the visiting army here.

Hopes Are Rising

Thousands of visitors are going to New York for a "good time" and some who were here were rather solicitiously inquiring of the New Yorkers if all their cabarets and more popular restaurants were to be "padlocked" before the convention period began. The absence of "night life," in Cleveland has been a subject of complaint among those who had idle evenings on their hands and they look forward to the Gay White Way with rather eager anticipations.

Cleveland was "good" as well as dry during convention week, as one lady delegate who lighted a cigaret after dinner in one of the principal hotels of the city discovered to her evident discomfiture. In the most casual manner possible when the coffee had been served, she took a "fag" from a jeweled case, placed it to her lips and struck a match. In a second she was surrounded by one head waiter and two assistant head waiters who held up their hands in holy horror and said such conduct as that was not permitted in their dining room. Men delegates could smoke as they pleased, it was explained, but the rules of the national convention bestowing equal political rights upon the fair sex had no force or effect in the gilded restaurant on this particular hostelry. It was explained to the irate lady by Cleveland friends that she had selected the one hotel in Cleveland which objects to the use of tobacco in any form by its lady patrons.

'Lives On A Farm'

Democratic women will have to go some to catch up with their sisters on the Republican national committee now that the latter have somewhat belatedly been recognized. The new G. O. P. committee boasts a real live princess on its roster. She is Princess Kawananakea, of Honolulu. Fortunately when she was named from the convention floor an Hawaiian reading clerk was on duty at the chairman's desk and he repeated the name in such a mellifluous voice that it called for a cheer from the galleries. One of the distinct memories of the Republican convention was the booming voice of Mrs. Minnie J. Grimstead of Liberal, Kan., who seconded the nomination of Calvin Coolidge on behalf of the Sunflower state. Mrs. Grimstead is a Baptist preacher and political lecturer and her powerful voice carried to the far ends of the hall. The radio audience must have enjoyed her brief talk too. After she had spoken someone handed out a memorandum telling who she was. It concluded as follows: "She lives on a farm with her husband."

RADICALS ACCEPT TICKET PROGRAM

Extreme Radicals Willing To Take La Follette as Third Party Leader

ta, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana and Washington, and this year we have organizations in Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado."

Platform Program

The platform to be adopted will be along the lines of the Farmer-Labor party program part of which demands social legislation for the farmer and worker. To understand the situation here, it is necessary to appreciate that in the Minnesota primaries this week, the Communists who are really the left wing or radicals of the Farmer-Labor party have entered a complete ticket and even a man to oppose Senator Magnus Johnson who, in the eyes of the Communists, is a conservative. The Communists realize they are in the minority and, of course, if their ticket loses they will support Magnus Johnson and any other candidates who win the Farmer-Labor party nominations.

It so happens that the Farmer-Labor party is the dominant political body in this state as the Democratic party has been virtually obliterated while large numbers of Republicans have joined the Farmer-Labor party. Under such circumstances, it is inevitable that the Farmer-Labor party should, in turn, develop a radical and conservative faction. Mr. Ruthenberg explains that while the ultimate aim of the Communists which he represents, is "the dictation of the government by the proletariat and the introduction of the soviet system," such a goal is not really reached and that it is wiser to follow the methods of political action through the regular constitutional processes until such time, of course, as the Communists gain sufficient strength to overcome constitution barriers.

Not Radical, Claim

The writer asked Mr. Ruthenberg how he defined the essential difference between Senator La Follette and the Communists.

"Well," he said, "to our way of thinking Senator La Follette is not a radical. He believes in the capitalistic system but we believe in the Soviet system. He has always been a Republican. He did not even bolt the Republican party in 1912."

This convention holds itself more or less aloof from the conference for Progressive political action which is to take place in Cleveland on July 4th and which is expected to endorse Senator La Follette. Some of the leaders here are doubtful whether the Cleveland conference will make any progress. They have the idea that William Gibbs McAdoo through his friendship with the heads of the railway brotherhoods will have considerable following in that convention and that if by any chance he has been nominated by the Democrats in New York, there will be a determined effort made by his friends to secure an endorsement for him at Cleveland in which case Senator La Follette might not wish to run for he is reported here as believing he ought not make the race unless he has the united support of all the elements at the Cleveland conference.

Asked for his comments on the Republican ticket, Mr. Ruthenberg said:

"Most of us feel that with a strike breaker at the head of the ticket (referring to Mr. Coolidge's part in the Boston police strike) and a fascisti for vice president, the Republicans have done exactly what might have been expected of them and made it all the more necessary that labor should be thoroughly organized."

Thousands Pay Tribute to Forty-eight Victims of Warship Explosion

of 150 men played "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Lead Kindly Light."

Firing Squad Acts

Vice-Admiral Henry A. Wiley, acting commander of the fleet, opened the ceremonies. Five navy chaplains said prayers. Another blessed the caskets.

As three sharp volleys from a firing squad of 1500 marines blasted the hush over the multitude, the sweet muted strains of "Taps" were heard in the distance. Higher and higher trilled the blue-coated buglers and each note had as accompaniment the beat of 20,000 hearts.

Two hundred and eighty-eight pallbearers raised the caskets and slowly marched away to start the gunners of the "Old Missy" upon journeys to homes in almost every state.

In the distance, where in funeral gray with her guns pointed west the Mississippi rode a silent sea, all eyes seemed to turn as a farewell salute commending the forty-eight to eternal rest. Tears there were and misted eyes, but straight and true stood the men of the navy and still and steady they raised white gloved hands in final greeting to their comrades.

Again the traditions of the navy had been upheld.

LEGION TO HELP BONUS REQUESTS

Committee Will Aid Veterans Fill Out Applications For Compensation

An adjusted compensation service committee has been formed by the Glendale post No. 127 of the American Legion to assist any ex-service men of this community in making out their applications for compensation when it is issued in about thirty days, and a free information booth will be conducted all this week at the southeast corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard where Legion men can register and secure additional information.

E. E. McWain, adjutant of the Glendale post, states that many of the ex-service men are without their discharge certificates and other data necessary in the filing of the application. The slightest error in filling out the blank would necessitate a repetition of the process, it is announced.

This work will be handled entirely by the Legion and those in charge urge that members register at the information booth immediately. Those registered will be the first to receive service, as the committee will know where they may be reached. A campaign for increased membership will also be conducted at the booth, and application blanks are obtainable there.

ADMITS PART IN SHIELDING GIRL

Seaman Tells Tale of Aiding Fair Stowaway Found On Battleship

BREMERTON, Wash., June 17.—After standing for three days upon his constitutional rights which permit him to refuse to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself, Adolph R. Berquist, seaman, first-class, admitted in court-martial proceedings today that he participated in shielding "Madeline," the girl stowaway aboard the U. S. S. Arizona, and that he had made photographs of her in the store room.

Maurice Goodloe, ship's cook, second-class, went on trial today on the same charges lodged against eleven other members of the crew. He furnished food, it is charged, for the girl during the month she was aboard the vessel.

One Not Guilty

The court yesterday found that Gus Stuart, a storekeeper, third class, and a shipmate of Berquist's, was not guilty of either charge lodged against him.

"Madeline'" true name is said to be Mrs. Madeline Blair, wife of Leonard Blair of New York City. She was put ashore at Balboa upon discovery and provided transportation back to New York.
